

County of San Diego - Juvenile Justice Commission 2012 Inspection

According to Welfare and Institutions Code Section 229, the Juvenile Justice Commission conducts annual inspections of the juvenile detention facilities in San Diego County. It shall report the results of such inspections together with its recommendations based thereon, in writing, to the juvenile court and to the Board of State and Community Corrections.

B. Recommendations:

The 2012-13 Juvenile Justice Commission (JJC) recommends that the County of San Diego Probation Department:

1. Reinstitute the Fire Science Academy program and find a qualified instructor to teach. Based on SANDAG research, the program has been effective and popular with both staff and wards. The environment of Camp Barrett makes it an ideal location for the program. In addition, the facility should consider training sessions in response to forest fires in the area.
2. Investigate Skype as a potential aide to increased family contact. The wards at Camp Barrett would benefit from increased family contact. Several factors contribute to limiting that contact. It may be possible for Camp Barrett to partner with organizations like the Boys & Girls Club to provide Skype-friendly sites where parents can sign up to communicate with their sons in a safe environment. If Camp Barrett is limited by old equipment, the JJC would be happy to assist the facility in locating and applying for suitable grant funding.

3. One of the 2011 recommendations was to offer groups for survivors of abuse/maltreatment/violence counseling and victim awareness. In response to the recommendation, the Probation Department agreed to research the possibility of adding a group session at Camp Barrett. The JJC continues to believe that the recommendation has merit and encourages the establishment of the group.
4. One of the 2010 recommendations was the introduction of electronic medical records. The proposed timeline appears to be slipping and the JJC wishes to re-iterate the need for the program and to stress the significant and positive impact on managing the wards' healthcare that should result from electronic medical records.

C. General Comments

Camp Barrett is located in a remote area in southwestern San Diego County. The distance from the highway to the Camp is over a mile on a sometimes one-lane road. There are no buildings within site of the Camp which is surrounded by dry wilderness area. The Camp is located on a hillside and reached by stairs. There is a visitors' area located outside the Camp proper on a level with the parking area. The Camp proper is encircled by a ten-foot chain-link fence topped by concertina wire and all gates are secured and require a card for entry. The Camp consists of several office buildings, three barracks, a kitchen and mess hall, school buildings and other auxiliary buildings. The JJC Inspection team inspected the barracks, kitchen and mess hall, and the school area.

There are four barracks on site, only three of which are being occupied. The buildings are cross-shaped with the short section of the cross in the middle of the building. The wings of this cross consist of the Main entrance to the building, and storage area on one side and the toilet and shower area on the other side. The two wings of the long part are the sleeping areas of the buildings. There are barracks on each end of this section. The Control station is located in the center of the cross section. The barracks observed were manned by three Deputy Probation Officers, one at each end of the barracks and one in the center of the building at a control desk. The toilet area consisted of several toilets and can be observed from the Control Desk. The toilets are divided by partitions which are about three feet high and provide some privacy when in use. Sinks are located opposite the toilets and the entire area appeared clean and neat. The showers are also observable from the Control area; however, plastic curtains have been installed recently between the shower heads which provide some privacy while showering. The curtains do not reach the floor and provide some means of observing the shower. There is a door at each end of the sleeping area. During the inspection, a Correctional Deputy Probation Officer was stationed at each end as well as the Senior Deputy P.O. who was located in the Control section.

It was noted during the tour that some of the youth appeared to be very mature. It was learned that some youth present were over 18 years of age as the Juvenile Court has jurisdiction until a youth is 21 years of age and some are sent to Camp Barrett until they reach that age. In discussion with the Supervising Deputy that assisted during the tour, the inspection team was told that the composition of the youth placed in each barracks is largely determined on the basis of gang membership or relationship, therefore, they do not intermingle the members of the barracks at any time. This includes recreation times, meal times, school attendance or movement throughout the compound. The inspectors were also informed that on occasion gang problems occur in the visiting area located outside the main complex among the visitors.

The mess hall and kitchen are located in a separate building. The second meal time had just ended and the building was being cleaned in preparation for the evening meal. Several youth were working at cleaning tasks and one was preparing vegetables for the evening meal. The eating area, food preparation area and storage area were all neat and clean. A list of the menus showing essential elements for the meals was provided to the inspection team. The chef had recently be assigned to the Camp and appeared to not have experienced the JJC inspections before.

The team visited the school and viewed an empty class room. It appeared to be neat and orderly with a row of computers for use by the students. The assisting Supervisor pointed out some scratching on the monitors which he identified as gang signs. A class was in session in another classroom and it was noted that a Deputy was present in the room.

In the recreational area of the compound, several pay phones had been installed. This was a recent addition which allows parents to pay for the phone calls in advance.

Overall, the physical state of the Camp was found to be in good order and the control appeared to be sufficient for the purpose. The probation officers were armed with large containers of pepper spray. They appeared to be alert and prepared for any emergency.

Exercise and Out-of-Sleeping Room Opportunities (Section F.5): When youth refuse to participate in physical recreation/exercise, Camp Barrett uses progressive discipline. The first time it happens, the youth has a counseling session in which the consequences of his behavior are made clear. If it happens again, the youth will lose some privileges. Subsequent infractions are considered rule violations, and if the youth persists in refusal to participate, the final result is administrative removal.

Experimental Research (Section G.4): Research projects are assessed on a case-by-case basis by the San Diego County Probation Department, sometimes in conjunction with the Juvenile Court. The specifics of each approved project vary (e.g., who is responsible for the research – i.e., the Principal Investigator, specific approvals sought, regulatory agencies involved, training required or provided etc.) and depend, in part, on whether the research involves only archival data or collaborative data analysis conducted in conjunction with the Probation Department research office versus data collected directly from minors in custody at Probation-run facilities or minors who are Wards of the Court but living in the community.

1. An ongoing inter-disciplinary research program that conducts research at San Diego County Probation Department facilities for juvenile wards of the court is led by Dr. Amy E. Lansing. As of 2012, this program of research was funded by the National Institute of Health (e.g., National Institute of Child & Human Development, National Center on Minority Health & Health Disparities), NIH-supported organizations within the University of California, San Diego system (e.g., UCSD's Clinical & Translational Research Institute, UCSD's Comprehensive Research Center in Health Disparities) and/or UCSD organizations (e.g., Academic Senate). The following criteria is utilized to protect youth who participate in their research as well as UCSD staff:
 - a. Juvenile Court applications are submitted, and reviewed by the Presiding Judge and Juvenile Court lawyers, to request access to Wards of the State. After review, any needed modifications, and approval, a Juvenile Court Order provides access to youth in Probation facilities and/or monitored by the Probation Department;
 - b. Project requests are made to the San Diego County Chief Probation Officer and appropriate Deputy Chiefs (e.g., Deputy Chief of Institutional Services for research occurring on site at Probation Department facilities). Probation Department approval is sought for each research project;
 - c. The Institutional Review Board (IRB) at the University of California, San Diego (and IRBs at any collaborating institutions such as Yale University, San Diego State University) must first approve any research project before it begins. The IRB always consists of a Prisoner Representative, as well as other members with specific expertise relevant to each reviewed project (e.g., Developmental Psychologist, Neuropsychologist, Radiologist, Pediatrician, Neurologist etc.). See <http://irb.ucsd.edu/3.7.pdf>;
 - d. After UCSD IRB approval is obtained, the research protocol and all consent and assent forms are sent to the California Department of Health and Human Services for review related to Subpart C regulations (43 FR 53655; Additional DHHS Protections Pertaining to Biomedical and Behavioral Research Involving Prisoners as Subjects).

Research involving incarcerated youth may only begin after this additional approval is obtained.

See: <http://www.hhs.gov/ohrp/humansubjects/guidance/45cfr46.html#subpartc>;

- e. All youth participants voluntarily assent (13-17 year olds) or consent (18 year olds), following ethical standards and using language geared toward adolescents. Specific questions are asked of the youth during the assent/consent process to confirm that the youth does understand what participation in the study means;
- f. Parental Consent is sought for minors, and neutral Participant Advocates facilitate youth and/or parental consent;
- g. Consent/Assent (answering questions, reviewing right to withdraw from the study at any time etc.) is an ongoing process during participation;
- h. A Federal Certificate of Confidentiality is obtained for each research project and protects collected data. All Universities, co-investigators and faculty involved in any given research project are included on the Federal Certificate issued by the National Institute of Health and are held to the same requirements with respect to confidentiality, compliance with privacy safeguards and protection of human participants in research as well as additional requirements for research with vulnerable populations. See <http://grants.nih.gov/grants/policy/coc/>;
- i. UCSD Youth Study staff who have contact with the youth and/or collect archival data at Probation-run facilities, each go through:
 - 1) UCSD's background check for Staff (non-salaried/non-staff students go through Probation's background check, see ii below);
 - 2) San Diego County Probation Department's Volunteers in Probation process (See VIP details at:
http://www.sdcounty.ca.gov/probation/volunteer_opportunities.html) which includes submitting a personal application, being cleared after a County health appointment, providing finger print records, and completing a background check and clearance;
 - 3) Collaborative Institutional Training Initiative for human subjects' protections training. See <https://www.citiprogram.org/aboutus.asp?language=english>;
 - 4) Basic training related to the Prison Rape Elimination Act (e.g., assessing and detecting sexual abuse and assault) and mandated reporting criteria under a Federal Certificate of Confidentiality;
 - 5) Safety orientations specific to requirements at each site (e.g., Girls Rehabilitation Facility);
 - 6) Assessing mental health issues (e.g., suicidal / homicidal ideation, non-suicidal self-injury etc.) and/or protection of information (HIPAA, see <https://www.privacyrights.org/fs/fs8a-hipaa.htm>) relevant to that staff member's contact with youth and/or archival data;
 - 7) All co-investigators must complete CITI training as well even if they are only involved in secondary data analysis. Co-investigators who may have direct contact with youth are also named on the Juvenile Court Order.

Vocational Programs/ROP (Section H.5): Camp Barrett offers several work-readiness programs. Youth are instructed in the proper clothes to wear for an interview and how to fill out an employment application. The facility helps them to apply for internships and apprenticeships in areas such as auto body and graphic design. Additionally, youth are encouraged to attend job fairs in the community. In previous years, the facility offered a Fire Science Academy, but that has since been discontinued; bringing this program back should be a goal for the facility.
